Innovation management best practices

Registrants from the U.S.A. and Canada – accounting for 54% of total responses - who participate in CIO's online survey have, by and large, similar opinions on the management practices which contribute to a climate which encourages innovation.

One exception is Factor #2 where U.S. registrants place more value on the need for management to explicitly call for innovation. Canadians seem more laid back on this issue!

Registrants from Canada and the U.S.A. are mostly aligned in their opinion on the climate for innovation
